Global Journal of Psychology Research: New Trends and Issues

Volume 06, Issue 2

Global Journal
of Psychology Research:
New Trends and Issues

Message from Editor

Dear Readers,

It is the great honor for us to publish fifth volume, second issue of Global Journal of Psychology Research: New Trends and Issues.

Global Journal of Psychology Research: New Trends and Issues (GJPR) is an interdisciplinary journal that publishes empirical research and theoretical articles from all fields of psychology. The journal aims to provide an international platform for researchers/academicians and practitioners from the field of psychology to share new trends and issues regarding developments, approaches and applications. The journal welcomes articles that contribute to understand, think and discuss about a wide range of issues addressing new trends and issues in psychology.

Cognitive Behavioral Therapy in chronic disease, parents' anxiety about their gifted children, relation between sibling abuse and guilt and shame, classroom management anxiety scale and analysis of psychometric properties of the scale and psychometric properties of professional quality of life scale topics have been included into this issue. The topics of the next issue will be different. You can make sure that we will be trying to serve you with our journal with a rich knowledge in which different kinds of topics are discussed in 2016 Volume.

A total number of thirteen (13) manuscripts were submitted for this issue and each paper has been subjected to double-blind peer review process by the reviewers specialized in the related field. At the end of the review process, a total number of five (5) high quality research papers were selected and accepted for publication.

We present many thanks to all the contributors who helped us to publish this issue.

Best regards,

Prof. Dr. Tulay Bozkurt
Editor – in Chief